

GREATER RICHMOND grid

CONNECTING LIVE + WORK + PLAY

Palari Publishing LLP combines the best of metropolitan Richmond life in the GREATER RICHMOND Grid a new magazine and website that highlight the area's diverse and interesting people, cultural vibrancy and business news; its unique array of galleries, museums, stores, restaurants and events; and the wide range of unique living options in chic urban and suburban spaces.

With a circulation of 60,000, the full-color glossy quarterly is distributed as a free publication throughout the Greater Richmond Region as well as in Charlottesville. Daily updates at the magazine website complement the print publication.

The magazine showcases a design-forward presentation in style with an editorial emphasis on ideas and innovation—stories that reflect trends in metropolitan Richmond's contemporary home life, business developments, events, entertainment and the arts.

The target audience ranges from culturally-motivated; young professionals; entrepreneurs; regional businesspeople; to those residents and visitors who want to keep abreast of upcoming events, new ideas and resources for living, working and playing in Richmond.

RICHMONDGRID.com

Contact David Smitherman
804 355-1035
Dave@palaribooks.com

Grid mobile BEST VIEWED WITH IPHONE | SAFARI

Thursday, July 22, 2010

about | advertise | back issues | contact | find grid | search | subscribe | RSS

Greater Richmond Grid and Sports Backers Quarterly Launch Summer Issues @ Current
7/22/2010 9:07:20 AM | CONNECTING LIVE-WORK-PLAY
Event Brings 100+ Attendees to New Riverfront Hot Spot

Just Ask Peter
7/20/2010 11:02:55 AM | Peter Larsen
Can You Trust Your Copier?

A 'Green House' on Grove
7/20/2010 8:26:39 AM | CONNECTING LIVE-WORK-PLAY
Thinking Outside the Window Box with Watershed Architects

Downtown Spirit: Richmond Raiders Co-Owner Elizabeth Fraizer Tackles Youth Mentoring Through Athletic Opportunity
7/19/2010 4:02:26 PM | Ted Randler
As co-owners of Downtown's American Indoor Football Association team the Richmond Raiders, Elizabeth Fraizer and her husband Michael, Chairman and CEO of Genworth Financial, are passionate about their pursuit to support the community through economic investment (as with the AIF team) or by their charitable initiatives.

COMPLEO
Branded Web Apps.
Social Media.
Brand Monitoring.

www.compleoapps.com
804-447-9289

palari Publishing